Jingle and Jangle

Jingle and Jangle were two horses. Jingle lived 8 on a cattle ranch on the north side of the fence, 19 and Jangle lived on the south side. 26

Jingle and Jangle were about the same size. 34
When they were little, they both liked to race along 44 the fence. They also ate the green apples that fell 54 on each side of the fence. 60

The two horses were different in some ways. 68
Jingle was brown with white down the middle of 77 her face. Jangle was all black. Unlike Jangle, 85 Jingle was able to jump small hedges. Jingle didn't 94 mind having a saddle on her back, but Jangle 103 didn't like a saddle. He would wiggle and kick 112
a lot. 114

One day Jingle was sold to another rancher. 122 Jangle lost the sparkle in his eye. He missed his 132 pal. Then Jangle was sold. When he got to his 142 new ranch, there was Jingle, running and 149 jumping. They were happy once again. They 156 huddled together and ate green apples. 162
